NOVA — NOW MORE THAN EVER A UNIVERSITY FOR ...

Broward County

Nova Conference To Focus On Broward's Future

As part of its continuing commitment to serve the community, Nova University's Center for the Study of Administration is sponsoring, as a public service, an all-day conference to help Broward County resolve some of the pressing issues and problems which county officials see facing it in the future. Several members of the Center's National Advisory Board, many of whom are members of the prestigious National Academy of Public Administration, have volunteered to serve as advisors and consultants to the county administration, and lend their extensive inter-governmental national and international expertise to the solution of local and regional problems.

The conference, titled "Broward Focus 2000," will take place Friday, February 20, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Hilton Inverrary Conference Center, Lauderhill, Florida. Local and state leaders and decision-makers from the public and the private sectors will attend.

'Nova/Coral Springs' Week Set

The Board of Trustees of Nova University and the Board of Governors of Nova University at Coral Springs have proclaimed February 21-27 "Nova University at Coral Springs Week" in honor of the recent purchase of a permanent site for the university's center in Coral Springs. The site is located in the community service complex on N.W. 29th Street across from Mullins Park. Local municipalities and civic organizations will join in the celebration.

According to Jerry Shames, general manager of the Burroughs Corporation and chairman of the Nova/Coral Springs Board of Governors, a week-long open house will take place at Nova's present learning center, 3501 University Drive, Coral Springs, during "Nova University at Coral Springs Week." Featured will be the university's present undergraduate programs in Human Sciences and Business, the Nova University Clinic, the Broward County School Board's GED high school completion program at Nova/Coral Springs, and the many cultural offerings of the university's learning center.

'Job Club' Starting

Dr. Nathan H. Azrin of the Behavioral Sciences Center has begun a workshop called the "Job Club" under contract with the Broward Employment and Training Administration to assist CETA employees to find competitive employment. The workshop will be conducted at an office on Oakland Park Boulevard under the supervision of Dr. Victoria Besalel. The agency will send CETA clients to the workshop after their subsidized employment has expired, or even before they begin their subsidized employment. Since the Job Club has been effective with 90% of job-seekers in previous applications, it is hoped that this project will reveal a method for reducing the need for subsidized employment for CETA clients as well.

For further information, call Dr. Azrin at 475-7580 or Dr. Besalel at 753-7020.

Nova-BCC Join In Training Programs

The Criminal Justice Program at Nova University and the Criminal Justice Institute at Broward Community College have embarked on a joint venture aimed at providing in-service training to police officers and executives in Broward County over the next year.

The first offering, a one-day seminar entitled "Civil Litigation and the Police,"

Law Center Hosts Appeals Court

The Fourth District Court of Appeal will again hold hearings in the Courtroom on the fifth floor of the Leo Goodwin Sr. Law Building, Nova Law Center, 3100 S.W. 9th Avenue, Fort Lauderdale on February 10, 11 & 12th, and March 9, 10 & 11th, 1981.

The Law Center welcomes this judiciary's use of its new facility, since it provides a unique educational experience for law students who may observe live appellate arguments after studying legal briefs prepared by the attorneys who appear before the Court. Three 4th D.C.A. judges who sat in the Courtroom in November indicated their appreciation for this opportunity to meet with future attorneys, and complimented the Law Center on its excellent facilities.

Is Affordable Housing Possible?

The first Nova University Executive Council Conference of 1981 will focus on "Affordable Housing: What's Happening? Is the Market Solving the Problem?"

The Conference will take place Tuesday, February 17, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. in the Mailman-Hollywood Auditorium. Speakers will include major builders and developers reporting on current conditions and emerging trends, and financial experts reporting on economic indicators for Broward County for 1981 and economic forecasts.

For further information, call Rose Ann Schaefer at 475-7425.

Seminar Set

A seminar on "Silicification and Calcification by Algae" by Dr. Phillip J. Halicki of the Dept. of Geology, Columbia University, will be held at the Oceanographic Center, Friday, February 6, at 3:30 p.m.

Tenth Anniversary Planned

During the summer of 1982, Nova University will celebrate ten years of providing high quality graduate education through its national field-based programs. During this decade, many persons have received a graduate education which they could not have obtained through the traditional educational systems.

This has been a decade of leadership. The university's programs now operate in nineteen states, and the graduates assume greater responsibilities in their professional roles. The programs have served as models for other institutions seeking to expand their service to working professionals.

The Center for Higher Education for example, one of ten centers in the University, originated as a program for community college faculty. It has since expanded its programs to include all of higher education, Vocational, Technical and Occupational Education programs, and recently, Leadership in Adult Education. The Center has also changed in order to accommodate the increasing number of enrolling participants working not only in traditional educational institutions but also in libraries, business, industry, hospitals and social agencies.

Tech Management On The Move

The Bachelor of Science in Technological Management Program has been earning such raves from industry and individual students alike over the past year that inquiries are now coming in from all over the state from people and companies eager to have a cluster begun in their communities, reports Marion Wolfson, Program Coordinator.

Here's the score card on clusters operating and planned:

On-campus — five operating; a sixth due to start soon.

Panama — two operating, a third starting soon.

Jamaica — one presently operating, one or more on the horizon.

Sun Coast Learning Center, Clearwater-Tarpon Springs — two starting shortly.

Administration Memos

The Center for the Study of Administration announces the formation of its tenth Doctor of Public Administration Cluster on the main campus, and its sixth cluster in the Washington, D.C. area. Dates for the South Florida X on campus are March 20 and 21. Dates for Capitol VI are February 13 and 14.

A limited number of applications will be considered for late admission.

The D.C. cluster director is Dr. King Cheek at (202) 783-1044.

The Center for the Study of Administration is currently accepting applications for Doctor of Business Administration and Doctor of Public Administration clusters which are scheduled to begin in the Spring in Huntsville, Alabama and the Chicago, Illinois area.

Director Consultant For 'Quincy' Show

On Wednesday, February 11, NBC-TV will air a segment of the "Quincy" show titled "Scream to the Skies." The show concerns an airplane crash in the waters off Los Angeles with major fatalities, most of which are due to hypothermia (loss of body heat due to immersion in cold water).

Both the idea for the show and special technical assistance were provided by Wayne Williams, Director of Nova's Institute for Survival Technology. Williams has been spearheading a nation-wide drive to make the FAA require commercial aircraft to carry effective life-saving equipment in case of accidents at sea. The show illustrates what Williams believes must inevitably happen in the foreseeable future when an airplane, possibly with hundreds of passengers, ditches in the water.

Williams may be reached at 475-7488.

Nova To Co-Sponsor International Programs

Nova University will co-sponsor at least six continuing education programs with the Center for International Study and Professional development. The programs are: a three-day seminar on Transportation with separate sessions on air and ground transport, April 22-24; a banking and business seminar in Fort Lauderdale, April 30-May 1; a seminar on Comparative Systems, Great Britain and the United States, in Oxford, England, August, 1981; and two programs, one in business administration and one in international marketing and trade, in the Peoples Republic of China, in early Fall, 1981.

Downs, Conroy To Speak At Nova

Hugh Downs

TV personality Hugh Downs and novelist Pat Conroy will be guest speakers at a Book and Author Festival sponsored in part by Nova University at Coral Springs, Saturday, March 14, at the Coral Springs Mall and the Holiday Inn.

An all-day book fair with many local authors as well as Downs and Conroy making autographing appearances will take place in the Mall. That evening, Downs and Conroy will speak at a book and author program at the Holiday Inn at 8:15, followed by a reception and autographing party.

Downs will discuss his book, "The Best Years Book: How To Plan For Fulfillment, Security and Happiness in the Retirement Years", co-authored by Richard Roll and published by Delacorte. Downs, one of the nation's most respected television personalities, has become a spokesman for senior citizens and re-retired people through his daily Emmy-winning talk show, "Over Easy."

Conroy will discuss his newest book, "The Lords of Discipline" published by Houghton-Mifflin. Conroy is also the author of "The Great Santini" (made into the film starring Robert Duvall) and

"The Water is Wide" (made into the film "Conrack" starring Jon Voight).

Sponsors of the Book and Author Festival are the Coral Springs Cultural Society (of which Nova University is a member) and the Council for Florida Libraries. Dr. Pat Distasio, Director of Nova University at Coral Springs, is one of the chairmen.

For further information, call 753-3300.

Springs Week

Nova/Coral Springs "Alternative Classroom" program will also be highlighted.

Information will also be available on two new programs at Nova/Coral Springs. The Corporate Division of Nova College under the direction of Dr. Anna Mae Burke has recently started classes in electronic engineering technology and mathematics.

As a grand finale to "Nova University at Coral Springs Week," a reception honoring Nova Chancellor Alexander Schure and Mrs. Schure, and Nova President Abraham Fischler and Mrs. Fischler will be held in the auditorium of Nova/Coral Springs on Friday, February 27, from 4 to 6 p.m.

The Nova/Coral Springs celebration will continue with a month-long Winter Festival (February 21-March 21).

Among the events will be two concerts presented by the Coral Springs Society for Performing Arts. The first is a duo-piano concert featuring David Layden and Beverly Norton, at the new Omni Auditorium of Broward Community College North on February 21. Proceeds of this concert will benefit Nova University at Coral Springs. The second concert on March 7, features Velia Yedra, pianist, and Bogdan Cruzes, violinist, at the Nova/Coral Springs Auditorium.

Another event in the Winter Festival will be the Coral Springs Book and Author Festival at the Coral Springs Mall and the local Holiday Inn on Saturday, March 14.

The Winter Festival will conclude with a Fifth Anniversary Open House, a gala reception and the second Annual Auction of Fine Art (March 19-21). A Fifth Anniversary Reception will take place in the Coral Springs Holiday Inn Saturday, March 21, followed by a fine art auction. This event is being presented as a benefit for Nova University at Coral Springs by Art America.

During the Winter Festival, Nova/Coral Springs will also present its Second Annual Hall of Fame Award to a local resident who has made an outstanding contribution to the arts and culture. The first Hall of Fame Award, presented in 1980, honored Edith Nathan, nationally prominent sculptress.

Equipment Donated

Modcomp and Burroughs Corporations have generously donated equipment to the Nova College Corporate Division for use in the electronics laboratory now being developed. The equipment consists of oscilloscopes, meters, power supplies, multimeters, computer chips, computer boards, regulators and other devices. The laboratory will be used by students in the Bachelor of Science in Electrical Engineering Program.

LETTERS

Dr. Patrick Distasio, Director of Nova University at Coral Springs, is chairman of the "Year of the Arts" Festival of the Coral Springs Cultural Society of which Nova/Coral Springs is a member. He recently received the following letter from George Firestone, Secretary of State:

Dear Pat:

Word of the activities of the Coral Springs' Cultural Society has reached me, and I just wanted to get in touch with you to say — "Bravo!"

Clearly, government efforts can only augment and enhance private sector initiative — so it's especially good to know that the Arts are alive, well and flourishing in Coral Springs.

Please convey to the members of your group my every good wish for a successful and exciting "Year of the Arts" — and, if we may provide any assistance, I hope you'll allow us that opportunity.

Again, congratulations!

With warm regards,

Sincerely,

George Firestone, Secretary of State, Department of State, Florida

Law Institute Has Busy Agenda

Herb Hewitt, Vice-President
Public Interest Law Society
Nova University Law Center

The Public Law Institute was founded at Nova University Law Center during the 1979-80 academic year with the appointment of law professor Cheryl Eisen as director. The purpose of the organization is to focus on current socio-legal problems and to seek opportunities to engage in scholarly research, consultation, litigation and education to promote responsible, ethical and fair public sector behavior in the face of changing public needs. Research for legislative reform is also a major concern of the Institute.

To further the ends of the Institute a student organization, the Public Interest Law Society was formed. Since then, the Institute has embarked on numerous projects.

THE PROJECTS

Juvenile Justice Handbook Project

This project was initiated in the Fall of 1979. Under Law School Assistant Dean Johnny Burris' supervision, Institute members are compiling a handbook for use by the bench and bar incorporating the current statutory and case law, as well as court rules, dealing specifically with juvenile offenders. Dean Burris anticipates completion of the Handbook early in the Spring, 1981 semester. The handbook will then be submitted to various organizations for consideration for publication and distribution.

Criminal Law Handbook Project

This project was initiated under the supervision of Jeffrey D. Swartz, an Assistant State Attorney with the Dade County State Attorney's Office. Mr. Swartz, formerly an Ohio prosecutor, discovered that there is no ready guide to current case law relating to Florida's criminal code and asked the Institute to help. Institute members are reviewing the code on a chapter by chapter basis, locating all law and relevant secondary materials for inclusion in the handbook. The anticipated completion date is July, 1981.

Legislative Drafting Project

In 1979, the Institute received a $350 grant from the American Bar Association/Law Student Division to establish a Legislative Drafting Service here at Nova. The Nova Law Center Student Bar Association matched those funds.

The first project undertaken was the drafting of a county ordinance for civilian review of police conduct. This project was completed in October, 1980 and has been submitted to Broward County authorities for evaluation.

The project currently being worked on by Institute members is an evaluation from a Florida perspective of the Uniform Land Transfers Act at the request of the Act's drafters.

Additional drafting projects are anticipated.

The Public Law Institute has several other items on its agenda:

1) It will assist the Law School's Associate Dean Marianna Smith in planning and hosting the Florida Bar's Academic Conclave to be held at the Law School May 8, 1981. Faculty, administrators and students from Florida's five law schools will convene with distinguished members of Florida's bench and bar to consider the needs of Florida law students from the academic and practical points of view.

2) The Institute will sponsor the Public Interest Practice Seminar, to be held June 4 and 5 in conjunction with

Nova Library Receives Rare Books

The Nova University Library has received a gift of the 12-volume set of The Codex Atlanticus of Leonardo Da Vinci.

The books were donated to Nova by Arnold Fuchs, a member of the Board of Governors of the University School.

The set is part of a limited, numbered edition, handbound in leather, with gold stamping on the spines. The volumes measure 18" by 24", each containing 360 pages in true-color facsimile, including 2,136 plates.

Codex Atlanticus contains Da Vinci's most important work on machines; technical apparatus and devices; and civil, military and hydraulic projects. It richly documents his contributions to the sciences of astronomy, geometry and chemistry, with designs for automotive vehicles, studies of ships able to navigate beneath the sea, concepts of mechanical wings to permit men to fly, and architectural plans for buildings and entire towns. It also has the artist's preliminary drafts of the "Portrait of Beatrice d'Este," and studies for the "Adoration of the Magi" and the "Leda."

A Meaningful Ending

A new elective HS-542 Contemporary Issues In Human Services will begin in February as part of the curriculum in the Master of Science in Human Services.

The first offering will be: Contemporary Issues — Human Services: Death, Dying, and Meaning In Life. The class will meet from 6:00 p.m.-10:00 p.m., February 10, 11, and 12, in the Mailman Building Auditorium, and will be one (1) semester credit.

Michael Murphy, M.D., Medical Director of St. Peter's Hospice, will be the instructor. Along with an impressive list of professional qualifications, Dr. Murphy is also Associate Professor of Psychiatry at Albany Medical College and was formerly Senior Instructor in Clinical Psychiatry at Tufts University.

For further information, call Helme Walter at 475-7555.

For further information call Robert Bogorff at 475-7496.

Kick The Habit

A program to assist people who want to stop or reduce their smoking habit will be offered at Nova this Spring. This 2 week program, which will employ the techniques of hypnosis and suggestion, will be conducted by Dr. Frank De Piano, clinical psychologist and faculty member in the psychology department.

The procedures used have been successful in the past in helping individuals give up smoking. The program requires careful self assessment of smoking habits, at-home assignments, and attendance of four spaced sessions during a 2-week period.

A $25 deposit (refundable upon completion of the program) will be required. No fee will be charged.

For additional information, contact Charlotte Vanook, 475-7559.

Eating Disorders Clinic Opens At Coral Springs

Nova University's popular Eating Disorders Clinic, which trains people to modify their behavior rather than diet to control their weight, will now be offering classes and workshops at the Nova University at Coral Springs learning center, 3501 University Drive.

Dr. Martin Lerner, Director of the Clinic, will host an Open House at Nova/Coral Springs, Wednesday, February 4, at 8 p.m.

For further information, call Dr. Lerner at 475-7587.

UNIVERSITY SCHOOL NEWS

Homecoming Magic

Spirit is high at the University School Upper House, with student enrollment increasing and student involvement intensifying. Excitement is at an all-time high now as everyone prepares for the first University School Homecoming Week, February 9-13. The theme, correlating with this year's yearbook theme, is "Magic." Throughout the week, everyone will have an opportunity to experience the "Magic of Music," the "Magic of Superstition," and the "Magic of School." Thursday night's grand finale features the traditional bonfire, a basketball game against Lutheran High School, the crowning of the king and queen at half-time, and finally the victory dance in the gym. The Homecoming committee includes the presidents and vice-presidents of all four classes and the Student Government, with Activities Director Ron Brennan, Tona Kirk and Sandy Lucz acting as staff advisors.

Grades 6-8 Are Doing Great Things

Along with the regular Middle School curriculum, eighth graders at the University School are learning Journalism and Problem solving; seventh graders are involved in Independent Social Studies Exploration, Individualized Reading, Typing and Journalism; and sixth graders are studying Biography and Autobiography, English II, and Band. Lisa Montelone (8), Cassandra Frank (7), Colleen Hussey (8) helped edge the girls basketball team to a 6 and 8 record. Class officers are working on skating parties planned for later this month. The Junior High basketball and golf teams have had a busy schedule. And Theater Arts groups in grades 6-8, under the direction of Charles St. Clair, have just completed fine performances. It's been a busy 1981!

The Melting Pot

"America, The Melting Pot" is the theme throughout the first through fifth grades at the University School, and everyone is involved in projects and activities that help the children understand and appreciate their heritage. GRADES 1 AND 2 WEST parents have been coming to class to share their varied backgrounds with the children. GRADES 1 AND 2 ANNEX made a giant graph plotting the birthplaces of their parents.

GRADE 3 has been exchanging letters and packages with Dr. Leonard Tomasello's third grade class in New Canaan, Conn. One package from the north contained fall leaves and acorns. In return, the University School class sent oranges, coconuts, and "one very large palmetto bug!" THE THIRD GRADERS have been collecting photographs and memorabilia from their families and discussing their roots. They have made a bulletin board to display the pictures and stories.

Other interesting projects the children are involved in include: GRADES 1 AND 2 WEST — New Year's resolutions. Among the promises were "I will read more books," "I will keep myself healthy and skinny," and "I will help my dad build a treehouse." (teacher's comment: "Good luck, Dad.")

GRADE 3 — Won a Middle School, Upper Division Presidential Election Poster contest. The prize was a make-your-own sundae feast. The class wishes everyone a Happy Valentine's Day, and a bright, sunny, warm Spring.

GRADES 4 AND 4 EAST — Welcomes Carolyn Pannu to the teaching staff. The children are also pleased as punch at being famous TV stars. Channel 7 did a segment on the class project in which the children pretended they were the Iranian hostages and wrote letters home to their families. Jill Blaustein was asked to re-read her letter at a "Remember the Hostages" Day sponsored by the Jewish War Veterans in Sunrise. Channel 7 returned to do another segment on the class symbolically "releasing" (cutting down) the 52 cardboard figures the children had made of each hostage. "We all laughed, cried, and joined the country in welcoming home the 52 ex-hostages," reports their teacher.

GRADES 4 AND 5 WEST — Created and canned their own outrageous products, and designed colorful labels describing their contents.

Institute

the Florida Bar at the Law Center. The theme this year will be "the Year of the Older Floridian."

3) The Institute Student Employment Fund: A fund has been established to supplement the Law School's student research assistants program. The fund will help pay students working on Institute research projects as well as students doing research for law professors. This will significantly expand the opportunities for paying jobs for students at the Law School. Initial financing for the fund will be derived from the proceeds of the 1981 Orange Bowl Marathon pledge drive. Students, alumni, faculty and friends pledged hundreds of dollars for the mileage of Law School runners who ran in the Orange Bowl Marathon on Saturday, January 17, in Miami.

4) Broward County Consumer Affairs Project: This project was just initiated at the beginning of the Spring, 1981 school term. Law students will be working a minimum of fourteen hours per week as a "consumer complaint analyst/mediators" at the Broward County Consumer Affairs Division. Participating students will receive academic credit. A student analyst will determine whether a disgruntled consumer has a legitimate complaint of unfair or deceptive trade practice. If so, the analyst will seek to resolve the dispute between the consumer and the business person or entity in question. In the unusual event the complaint is not successfully mediated, the law student will prepare the case for presentation to the Broward County Consumer Protection Board. It is expected that participation in this project will give students considerable background in substantive consumer law, valuable insight into the operation of administrative agencies and useful experience in the lawyerly art of mediation.

The Institute will continue to solicit and evaluate project ideas, to recruit faculty, students, the bench and bar, other professionals and laymen to make the projects work, and to seek public and private funding for projects requiring significant financial support.

Anyone seeking further information about the Public Law Institute should contact Administrative Assistant Debbie Hole at the Law Center, 522-2300, extension 145.

BTM

Venice — orientation meetings are being held, and a cluster is expected to begin soon.

Jacksonville — an orientation meeting is being held, and a cluster will be starting soon, probably within the next few months.

The BTM Program is designed to give people with A.S. degrees from accredited institutions an opportunity to study for a bachelor's degree in management, without having to give up their jobs or forfeit any of their previously earned credit. Classes are held one night a week and occasional Saturdays. For information, call Ms. Wolfson at 475-7330.

WHO'S WHO? US!

This month's "Who's Who" includes both veterans and newcomers. The veterans are those members of the Nova community (faculty, staff, students, and alumni) who have been listed in one or more "Who's Who" in the past. Newcomers are the 40 Nova students whose names have just been approved for inclusion in this year's "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges."

If you have ever been listed in any Who's Who, or know of someone in the Nova community who has been, send the information to the News Office, Nova University, College Ave., Fort Lauderdale, FL, 33314, for publication in a future issue of Nova News.

PEOPLE IN THE NEWS

December 8-12, Dr. Shenn-Yu Chao of the Oceanographic Center attended the annual meeting of the American Geophysical Union in San Francisco. He presented a paper entitled "The Dynamics of Baroclinic Jets over Shallow Topography."

On January 21, Dr. Julian McCreary of the Oceanographic Center, will attend the 61st Annual Meeting of the American Meteorological Society in San Diego. At the meeting Dr. McCreary will be presented the Editor's Award for "providing observative, constructive, and thought-provoking reviews on numerous manuscripts submitted to the Journal of Physical Oceanography." This award is a distinction reserved for very few physical oceanographers. Dr. McCreary will attend a PEQUOD (Pacific Equatorial Ocean Dynamics) investigators meeting February 8-9 on Molokai, Hawaii. The meeting is being arranged through the JIMAR Office of the University of Hawaii, which is directed by Dr. Dennis Moore, former director of the Oceanographic Center.

Robert B. Marvin, DPA candidate and administrator of the Hamilton County Memorial Hospital, Jasper, Fla., wrote an article titled "Hamilton County Memorial Hospital, a Rural Experiment" which was published by the American Hospital Assn. in its book, "Productivity Improvements in Small or Rural Hospitals." A second article, "The Emotional Side of Hospital Financing," was published in the December issue of the Hospital Medical Staff Advocate published by the American Medical Assn.

Sally E. Grace, DBA candidate from Chicago who attends the program in Ft. Lauderdale, had two papers accepted for publication by the Southern Management Assn. in conjunction with the Allied Southern Business Assn. meeting in New Orleans Nov. 19-22. The papers are titled "Controlled Patterns in a Coercive Organization: The Case of a Maximum Security Prison," and "The Relationship Between Employee Perceived Needs Satisfaction and Perceived Control Needs." Both papers were initially written for DBA course work and modified for submission for publication. Ms. Grace also has several additional articles awaiting acceptance for publication.

Jess J. Boytell, DPA candidate and Chief of Police of North Lauderdale, was recently elected president of the Broward County Chiefs of Police Assn.

Conference

At each of five panels, scheduled to take place concurrently from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., Broward County officials will present a position paper outlining issues and problems with county officials, and attempt to help develop workable solutions.

From 3-5 p.m., the conferees will gather for a reporting session. The chairman of each panel will present the panel's findings to the group for questions and discussion. These findings, in the form of held at BCC on November 14, 1980 was attended by more than 100 officers, greatly exceeding the most optimistic projections of program planners.

On December 12, 1980, another seminar, entitled "Police Promotional Exams" was held, and the expected attendance of 35-40 swelled to 75 because of the unexpected interest in the subject. Plans are now on the drawing board to expand this and other joint seminars because of the burgeoning interest of the local enforcement agencies.

Future one-day seminars include:

Affirmative Action in Law Enforcement, February 6, 1981;
Police Budgets, April 3, 1981;
Police Promotional Exams, June 12, 1981.

The seminars will be held in the Criminal Justice Institute at BCC and are free to all Broward County law enforcement officers.

It is anticipated that the relationship between Nova and BCC will continue and expand as more joint police training ventures are developed, and as the need for additional specialized courses becomes more dramatic.

For further information, call Dr. David Britt at 475-7302.

Robert B. Marvin, CSA S. Florida VIII Cluster, wrote an article titled "The Emotional Side of Hospital Financing" which appeared in the December, 1980 issue of Hospital Medical Staff Advocate.

Elizabeth Beardmore (Miami Alpha Cluster, CHE) participated on a three member panel on human sexuality at Florida International University in August. In September she served as a facilitator for a workshop on skin care at the Miami Veterans Administration Medical Center, and in July presented her research practicum "The Effect of Time of Administration on Vitamin C Tissue Level of the Spinal Cord Injured Individual" to the Southern Nursing Research Symposium at the University of Alabama School of Nursing in Birmingham.

John R. Correiro (Bristol Cluster CHE) has been elected superintendent of schools in Fall River, Massachusetts.

Louis Bender, National Lecturer in the Politics, Economics and Law of Higher Education (CHE) and Nanette Rodgers (Orlando Alpha Cluster, 1980) presented papers at the Florida Association of Community Colleges convention in Orlando. Their topic was "Applying Futures Concepts to Technical and Academic Post-Secondary Education."

Eugene E. DuBois (CHE) has recently completed a study titled "Towards the Development of a Comprehensive Management Information System" for Roxbury (Massachusetts) Community College. The study was funded by a Title III Project grant for Strengthening Developing Institutions by the U.S. Office of Education. He continues to serve as a consultant to the college. Professor DuBois has also revised his chapter for the third edition of Materials and Methods in Continuing Education under the title "Human Resources Development: An Expanding Role of Professional Practice for the Adult Educator."

Ross E. Moreton, (Director of CHE) and Malcolm S. Knowles were in St. Louis, Missouri for the annual meeting of the Adult Education Association, U.S.A. Dr. Moreton also attended the annual meeting of the Florida Association of Community Colleges in Orlando, and the American Vocational Association in New Orleans, Louisiana.

Louis Birdman and Scott Tietler, students at the University School, were accepted for Early Admission to Nova College Full-Time Day Division.

written reports, will be given to the county administration.

The panels are:

- * Toward a Livable Community — reports on transportation, education, water and waste, ecological factors, housing, cultural opportunities, health and safety, public-private responsibility, and/or law enforcement.
- * Broward's Economy — reports on public-private cooperation, community participation, industrial growth, tourism, construction, employment, and/or the airport.
- * Leadership — reports on growth, higher education, the elderly, refugees, the county charter, barriers, opportunities.
- * Toward a More Responsive Bureaucracy — reports on how the county can become more responsive to people's needs, how to improve communication with varying constituencies, the meaning and function of bureaucracy.
- * Charter Revisited — looking down the road toward modification of the County Charter, changes indicated, fine tuning.

For further information call Dr. John M. Clarke, Director of the Center for the Study of Administration, at 475-7689 or 475-7684.

Dr. Anna Mae Walsh Burke has signed a contract with Prentice-Hall Publishers for a new book, "What Do You Want To Be Now That You're All Grown Up?", which will be released in both hard cover and paperback early next year. The book covers the emotional as well as the practical side of seeking a career, rather than just a job. It will advise people on everything from preparing a good resume to dealing with the way a new career or a change in careers will affect the person's life and those of his/her family members. Another book by Dr. Burke, "Computers Can Be Kid Stuff", which is being published by Hayden Books, is due out this summer. This book "oriented to kids 9-90" offers a not-too-technical, non-threatening explanation of computers for home, business and pleasure. Dr. Burke's recently published book, "Are You Ready? A Survival Manual For Women Returning to School" has been printed, in excerpt form, in the February issue of New Woman magazine.

Retired Professionals Program Growing

The Institute for Retired Professionals is experiencing an exciting and satisfying year with new faces, new ideas, and added involvement in its expanding programming, reports Marion Bell, Director of IRP. The numbers alone tell the story: membership has grown from 83 last October to 140 in mid-January, and by every indication, IRP has nowhere to go but up.

Course offerings include History, Music, Art, Philosophy, Literature, Current Events and Debates — all stemming directly from the desires of the members who plan and participate actively in the programming. There are peer talk programs as well as professionally-taught courses. And, on weekends and during the summers, there are trips to local places of interest like Tampa, and distant horizon like Egypt, Africa, and possibly China, Spain or Portugal this summer. "Never a dull moment," says Ms. Bell.

For membership information, call Ms. Bell at 475-7336.

Welcome To Nova

Former Congressman Edward Stack has been appointed by Pres. Fischler as Visiting Professor of Public Administration with the Center for the Study of Administration. Prof. Stack will be teaching graduate students in the Doctorate of Public Administration Program, and will be preparing selective materials on the legislative process and the drafting of public law.

Education Loses Leader

The National Ed.D. Program for Educational Leaders is grieved to announce the untimely passing of one of the most valued members of its Advisory Board, Robert W. Blanchard of Portland, Oregon.

Dr. Gerald Sroufe, Director of the Program, said, "Bob was a member of our Advisory Board from the outset, and provided direction and support through a number of thorny problems. He took a personal interest in the progress of the Program, and in the well-being of the administrative staff. He will be sorely missed."

Dr. Blanchard was former Portland superintendent of schools. The Blanchard family has established a Robert Blanchard Memorial Scholarship Fund c/o the Portland Public Schools, 501 North Dixon Street, Portland, OR 97227.

Singers Set Spring Series

The Nova University Community Singers' Spring Concert series will include folk music of many lands, selections from Carousell, inspirational songs, and pieces by Aaron Copland.

The first concert will be Tuesday, April 21, at 8:15 p.m. at Temple Beth El, 1351 South 14 Ave., Hollywood. The second concert, Friday, April 24, will be at Bailey Concert Hall at 8:15 p.m.; the third, Friday, April 26, at Hollywood Hills United Methodist Church, 400 North 35 Avenue, at 8:15 p.m. The first and third concerts are free. The second is a benefit and tickets are $5. For tickets, call Bailey Hall at 475-6875.

Student Council President Named

Nova University's new full-time Day Division is moving forward on all fronts — including instituting a Student Council.

The Council's first president, Lenny Wolfson, came to Nova as an Early Admission student from his Junior year at Piper High School because "high school just wasn't offering me any challenge." He is thoroughly satisfied with what Nova's Day Division offers. "The school itself is small and intimate," he says, "and there is an excellent relationship between faculty and students."

Lenny, who plans to be an astrophysicist, has ambitious plans for the Student Council. These plans include producing a yearbook "to commemorate our first year of existence as a college", arranging several extra-curricular activities such as a cruise to the Bahamas later this month, and participating actively in the school's academic life. "I want to make sure that Nova maintains its high standards of education for its students," he asserts. "It is these high academic standards that make Nova a great institution of learning."

Other student council officers are: Shawn Donahue, vice president; Carmen Cantisano, secretary; and Don Ostberg, treasurer.

All In The Family

Nova University is a family affair with the Tworogers — husband, wife and mother.

To begin with, Tom Tworoger, his wife, Leslie and his mother, Louise are all Nova graduates — Tom and Leslie from the MBA program, and Louise with a BS and MS in Guidance and Counseling.

All three are now teaching at Nova College. Tom, owner of Kenworth Trucks of South Florida, is teaching Small Business Management; Leslie, active in civic and cultural affairs, is teaching Consumer Behavior; and Louise, a psychological counselor, is teaching Society and Aging at Coral Springs.

That's the thing about higher education. It's all relative...

Program Makes Terminal 'Smart'

All users of Radio Shack's TRS-80 Model II can now access Nova's DECSYSTEM-20 using DECTREM. This in-house developed program permits the Model II to act as a "smart" terminal. Command mode permits you to exit to CP/M, send a file from diskette to the DEC, receive a file from DEC and save it on diskette, or return to terminal mode. Instructions are contained in a "Help" file. For additional information contact Dr. George Lawniczak at the Computing Center, 475-7634.

Chairmen Named At Pre-Derby Luncheon

At a luncheon meeting of the 1981 Florida Derby Ball committee held a few weeks ago at the Marriott Hotel, Mr. and Mrs. James W. Rice (Sherry), general chairmen, introduced the other chairmen. They are: Mrs. Robert A. Steele (Millicent), perennial chairman (and president of Nova's Gold Circle); Mr. and Mrs. R. Basil Rutter (Claudine), general co-chairmen; Mrs. Marty Kono, hostess chairman; Mr. and Mrs. Russell M. Gardner (Joyce) music; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lee Mayhue (Fern) wine; Mr. and Mrs. Michael J. Dellaporta, Jr. (Mary) and Dr. and Mrs. Carmen A. Paolucci (Kathleen), decorations; Mrs. Donna Casto, addressing invitations; Mr. and Mrs. Dale Ledbetter (Mary) reservations; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas S. Clark (Early) menu; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Levinson (Terry) program; Mr. and Mrs. William J. Holland (Pat) and Dr. and Mrs. Stanley Silverblatt (Maxine) advertising; Mr. and Mrs. H. Wayne Huizenga (Marti) and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond C. Qualmann (Donna), Broward County chairmen; Dr. and Mrs. Hugo Waldheim, (JoAnn) publicity; Dr. and Mrs. George E. Burch (Alice) and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond A. Jones (Bonnie) Dade County chairmen; Mr. and Mrs. J. Gilbert Cooper (Patrice) and Mr. and Mrs. George R. Frederick (Dottie), Palm Beach county chairmen.

The Florida Derby Ball, which will be held on March 4 at the Fort Lauderdale Marriott Hotel and Marina, benefits Nova University. Dr. Abraham Fischler, president of Nova, was at the luncheon to greet the guests and outline future plans for the university. The Ball, sponsored by the Order of the Orchid, is one of the social highlights of the season, and among the most colorful of the week-long Florida Derby Festival.

Among special guests at the luncheon were Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Service (Pam), chairmen of the Florida Derby Festival of Gulfstream Park, Mrs. Francis T. (Mary) McCahill, chairman of the Board of Nova; Mrs. Douglas Donn (Alice), wife of the president of Gulfstream Park; Mrs. Joe Fowler of Boca Raton, the former Mary Anna Donn, whose late husband, James Donn, Jr., was president of Gulfstream.

Guests from the Greater Miami area included Mrs. Joe Edd Burch (Ada Margaret); Mrs. George E. Burch (Alice), Mrs. Starr Horton (Charlotte); Mrs. Harrison Eiteljorg (Sonja); Mrs. Fred A. Gunion and Mrs. Stanley Silverblatt (Maxine).

Approximately 80 committee members attended the luncheon. The Derby Ball attracts residents and visitors from Dade, Broward and Palm Beach Counties. The Marshall Grant orchestra again will provide music at the ball.

For further information regarding the ball, call Rose Ann Schaefer at 475-7425.

Nova to Build New Learning Center

By GERALDINE BAUM
Herald Staff Writer

Nova University announced plans this week to move its Coral Springs center to 3.6 acres the university recently bought at half price from Coral Ridge Properties Inc.

The university paid $200,000 for a $400,000 parcel on the north side

Coral Springs library. The library and the university now have an arrangement in which books and other materials the university purchases are stored in the library.

"The idea of using community facilities instead of duplicating them at the college level symbolizes what we're trying to do at Nova," Distasio said.

uate program," he said. "We're more geared for adults. The average age of our students is 33."

Distasio said Nova hopes to make the new Coral Springs center the major facility in North Broward County.

draws students from Beach County.

The Coral Springs center is being built by a 30-member board of donors, which received approval from the university's board of trustees.

Nova Offer Doctoral Scholarship

As part of its continuing effort to work toward the improvement of public administration through the provision of educational opportunities for practitioners, Nova University's Center for the Study of Public Administration is offering a $7,500 scholarship for its national Public Administration Scholarship.

To be eligible, applicants must be graduates of a public administration program and have a minimum 3.0 GPA.

Experts:

Whether it's yacht donations or creativity, there's some at Nova who knows the answers

By Heather Lajewski

The experts — those men and women who possess special skill or knowledge in a particular field — authority figures many look to for answers. They are the word.

West Broward has its experts, too. Nova University southwest Fort Lauderdale boasts having 68 of them names appear on the Nova University Experts List, compiled from the university's public relations department.

Fields of expertise range from abused adolescents to yacht donations, with 163 subjects in all. Some of the university's employees are labeled as experts in one subject. Others are said to have as many as nine areas of expertise.

The eight-page list is the brainchild of Nova University's public relations director Shirley Green — who includes the list as an expert on classical music.

She has her own definition of an expert. "An expert is a person who knows where to look up the answers to a problem, not necessarily one who just knows the answers."

Nova Innovative Institute of Higher Learning

Entering college in November is unusual in higher education in Florida — and in most other parts of this country — but it's no more unusual than the institution that has made it possible.

College-age young people may enroll Nov. 10 in the Day Division of Nova University without having missed any segment of the year's schooling.

The Day Division is structured that way — to accept new students every nine weeks the year around.

Nova College has been in existence since 1972, as the undergraduate division of Nova University. The university is beginning its 16th year.

Florida's most innovative higher learning institution.

It opened its doors to high school graduates in 1972.

Nova offers to ease education woes

By Linda Kleindienst
Political Writer

Nova University officials yesterday offered their school as the answer to Broward County's higher education woes.

But the offer to become the county's alternative to a four-year, state-funded college appeared to gain little support from local lawmakers.

Dr. Abraham Fischler, Nova president, unveiled the concept of an independent "state-assisted" university during a Broward County legislative delegation workshop on the county's higher education needs.

"Nova University supports the idea of bringing tax dollars for higher education to Broward County," Fischler told the eight-member delegation.

legislators who attended the session at Plantation City Hall. "But Nova University is opposed to the expansion of tax-supported institutions in Broward that duplicate efforts, increase state spending and require the spending of substantial dollars for buildings and administrative purposes before one student has even been educated."

Fischler was attacking a proposal developed by Florida Atlantic University and Broward Community College which would require approximately $11 million in new state funds to expand upper division programs.

"set in stone" but is basically what lawmakers had been hoping to get from county.

But Fischler argued the plan would duplicate of already existing programs and necessary construction costs — a state-assisted university would continue to generate the operating funds on its own.

As a state-assisted university, it would be eligible to apply for federal money, for the state with new programs.

Teaching Reading

By JOY STILLEY

NEW YORK (AP) — Because reading skills are so important throughout life, children should discover as early as possible that learning to read is both feasible and fun, says K. Shreck.

"If parents can teach their children to speak at home, which is a more complex process, then they can teach them to read," says Shreck, who has a master's degree in experimental psychology and has worked extensively with teaching machines and other educational aids.

With this conviction in mind, the 43-year-old father of four has developed a series of books to help parents teach their children to read. The "Acorn Magic Readers" use brightly colored pictures of animals and birds to introduce words, which are added to the child's reading vocabulary through gentle repetition.

Shreck, who at one time developed remediation materials to deal with problems already encountered in second- and third-graders, decided to shift toward emphasizing the fundamentals and thus to forestall such reading problems.

"There used to be a struggle with teaching at home. Several factors have served to make it more difficult."

"Programs like 'Sesame Street' and 'The Electric Blue' school education; the average age of children when they start school is increasing, and these older parents are more impatient with reading school are escalating."

Shreck tested each book at the University School of Nova University, Fort Lauderdale, Fla. "I'd go to school and read it to the children and continue to redo it until it worked," he recalls, adding that he had to go back and completely rewrite the first book "because the children didn't understand what a word was."

"The first step," he explains, "is to bring children to the point where they know what a word is and are able to recognize words as distinguished from other words. It's a matter of repeating until they comprehend that one word is different from another — you can almost see it happen."

A pilot program to provide legal research assistance to Broward County Circuit Court judges by 21 law students is being tested.

These students devote eight or more hours a week to the program, which is designed to help judges with legal research problems presented to them by the court.

Interest in the program has grown since it was first announced. "There's a lot of time and effort that goes into reading legal materials," says Shreck.

Shreck has written 15 books on legal research, including "Legal Research: A Guide for the Layman" and "Legal Research: A Guide for the Professional."

Shreck points out that legal research is an important part of the legal profession. "It's not just a matter of finding the law; it's a matter of understanding the law and applying it to the facts of a case," he says.

They are the best and the brightest in the legal profession. Real-life Perry Masons. And they are coming to South Florida to talk to a bunch of eager students at a little-known law school.

F. Lee Bailey, defender of Patty Hearst and Dr. Carl Coppolino, Boston Strangler Albert DeSalvo and Dr. Sam Shepherd. He's coming.

Melvin Belli, for 25 years renowned as the "King of Torts," the man who almost single-handedly boosted medical-malpractice and personal-injury awards into the six- and seven-figure range. He'll speak.

So will a select list of attorneys prominent both locally and nationally — First Amendment expert Harold Price Fahringer, West Virginia Chief Justice Richard Neeley, product liability specialist Harry Philo, Fort Lauderdale's Ray West and Palm Beach's Ray Wagner.

Why are they all coming to Nova University Law Center? To help up the bar.
